

ANOTHER WAY TO GATHER THIS THANKSGIVING

For some, the traditional Thanksgiving will not take place this year. It is a sad reminder of how the pandemic has upset our way of life. We look forward to the turkey, dressing, noodles and desserts made by our precious loved ones using recipes passed down through the generations. Although gatherings may be less this year we can still get together thanks to the internet and the many applications available to not only talk but see one another.

Skype, Facetime and Zoom are some of the most common applications used to video conference one-on-one or even in groups. You will need a device such as a computer, tablet or smartphone and in most cases, a Wi-Fi connection.

We shouldn't let the pandemic or distance keep us from gathering or telling one another how much we miss and love them this Thanksgiving. If you can't get together in person, make a video call! It's the next best thing.

Avoid Spoofing Scams

Phone scammers often disguise their identity by using illegal spoofing techniques to send false information to your caller ID display. To trick you into answering, spoofers may use local area codes and numbers that look familiar. Or they may impersonate a company you do business with, such as a local utility, or even a government agency.

Here are some good ways to avoid being spoofed:

- ☒ Don't answer calls from unknown numbers.
- ☒ If you answer and it's not who you expected, don't hang on, hang up.
- ☒ If a caller asks you to hit a button to stop getting calls, just hang up.
- ☒ Never assume an unexpected call is legitimate. Hang up and call back using a number you can verify on a bill, a statement, or an official website.
- ☒ Be suspicious. Con artists can be very convincing: They may ask innocuous questions, or sound threatening, or sometimes seem too good to be true.
- ☒ Don't give out personal information – account numbers, Social Security numbers or passwords – or answer security questions.
- ☒ Use extreme caution if you are being pressured for immediate payment.

A person who is deaf, hard of hearing, deaf-blind, or speech-disabled uses a TTY to type his/her conversation to an operator. The operator then reads the typed conversation to a hearing person. Then the operator relays the hearing persons's spoken words by typing them back to the TTY user.
